

The image shows the interior of a restaurant located on a ship. The room features a light-colored wooden floor and a ceiling with a complex metal truss structure and several spotlights. The seating consists of wooden booths with dark grey upholstered cushions and tables set with white tablecloths and glassware. A black grand piano is visible in the foreground on the right. Large windows along the sides offer a view of the water and other ships. In the background, there is a bar area with a red arched entrance.
